Protecting Children's Rights and Rehabilitating of Destitute Children:

We have been running an Open Shelter, 2 Children's homes & a CHILDLINE 1098 which carried the following philosophy:

- ❖ Integrated child development as an integral part of community development;
- ❖ Societal transformation at the grassroots level;
- ❖ Maintaining the deprived & poor children; &
- ❖ Empowering CBOs, PRIs & other voluntary groups.

The details of the project are as under:

DORD runs 25 bedded Open Shelter in Patna. We identified needy children & protected their rights & rehabilitation. Open Shelter is supported by State Child Protection Society (SCPS), Bihar govt. DORD runs 50 bedded children's home in Gaya & Dehri-On-Sone (Rohtas district). We could protect deprived children from the adverse situation of risk, abuse & vulnerability, protected them from all kinds of harm or harmful situation & brought them back into a safety net by receiving necessary assistance in a residential child-friendly environment. Child protection was integrally linked to other rights of children. Street/marginalized children could enjoy timely, adequate & nutritious meals every day.

DORD have started running a CHILDLINE 1098 at Aurangabad in the current financial year. It is a national initiative for child protection under the Ministry of Women & Child Development, Govt. of India. We could establish a crucial link with children & their different needs. We acted as a one-point contact which facilitated instant access to support, advice & intervene actively. We at CHILDLINE believed that a helpline to be successful & effective in reaching out to the thousands of children deprived of their childhood. We called them children without childhood. We always felt a need to work in a partnership framework, because no helpline could operate in isolation which led to a feeling of joint ownership towards the model of our CHILDLINE. We preferred to share our vision, mission & success of our model. Our CHILDLINE stood for a friendly "didi" or a sympathetic "bhaiya" who were supposed to be always there for vulnerable children 24 hours a day & 365 days in a year. Our project included street children, child labourers, domestic servants/maid servants, children of commercial sex workers, child victims of flash trade & child trafficking, abandoned children, mentally challenged children, conflict or disaster affected children, political child refugees & children from crisis-ridden families. DORD's personnel have a good sense of self-awareness, a sound moral compass & necessary skills/competencies & owning the challenges of the future. We tried to develop children as confident persons, self-directed learners, active contributors to the society & decision makers. We tried to get grassroots information related to child protection before actual initiation of the project. Such information helped us to plan our future initiatives for the actualization of child rights & child protection.

Finally, we were able to restore and rehabilitated 535 needy children in our Patna, Gaya, Rohtas and Aurangabad Centres.
